A unique blend of dignity and elegance has made The Georgetown the retirement residence of choice for many of the region's most distinguished citizens for over 30 years. Assisted living services and other amenities for one affordable monthly rental rate. No entrance fee.

Georgetown Shopping

maging through the clothing castaways of the Late Night Shots set, that's because you are. Operated by MTV UK Blonde Charity Mafia reality star Krista Johnson, this new shop mixes consignment pieces from Johnson's high-society friends with such discounted staples as Milly and Tory Burch. Despite the cluttered display, finds including $60 Lela Rose wool shorts keep us coming back.

Also try: Second Time Around (3289 M St., NW; 202-333-2355; secondtimearound.net) for everyday separates, newcomer Tari (1525 Wisconsin Ave., NW; 202-621-7500; taridc.com) for flashier labels such as Roberto Cavalli as well as men's button-downs, and Secondhand Rose (1516 Wisconsin Ave., NW; 202-337-3378) for colorful pantsuits.

JEWELRY AND GIFTS

What Charm Georgetown (2910 M St., NW; 202-298-0420; charmgeorgetown.com) lacks in space it more than makes up for in jewelry options. Owner Jaelyn Mason's tastes are eclectic—she keeps her shop stocked with everything from tribal bib necklaces to glitzy rhinestone bangles. Alexis Bittar and Paula Mendoza are just a few of the standout brands.

There's something for every member of the ultra-fashionable family at M29 Lifestyle (2828 Pennsylvania Ave., NW; 202-295-2829). At this modern showroom, Mom can pick up Antik Batik caf-tans and Chan Luu bracelets, Dad can shop for Beryll leather jackets, and the kids will look styled beyond their years in pretty ballerina dresses and tiny slip-on shoes.

The inexpensive, color-saturated artwork at Claude Taylor Photography Gallery (1500 Wisconsin Ave., NW; 202-333-1101; travelphotography.net) features snapshots from trips across Europe and the United States. The Washington prints—including of Ben's Chili Bowl and kayaks on the Potomac River—make nice gifts for a recent graduate's first apartment.

Also try: Rooms With a View (1661 Wisconsin Ave., NW; 202-625-0610) for cute cards, wrapping paper, and ribbons.

SHOE FIX

Sneak freaks should head to Major (1426 Wisconsin Ave., NW; 202-625-6732; majorjdc.com), Georgetown's coolest urban-gear outfitter. Owner Duk-Ki Yu crams the space with limited-edition Air Jordans, Adidas Gazelles, and Nike Dunks, and the T-shirt/hoodie selection scores with fans.

Every item on the floor at Hu's Shoes (3005 M St., NW; 202-342-0202; huonline.com) is a veritable work of art. Sister store to Hu's Wear, this boutique stocks Devi Kroell snakeskin pumps, Lanvin flats, and sexy Giuseppe Zanotti sandals.

Thanks to plush couches and tons of fashion magazines, Sassanova (1641 Wisconsin Ave., NW; 202-471-4400; sassanova.com) feels like the living room of a stylish Georgetown doyenne. The upscale preppy selection is a good complement to the finds at nearby Urban Chic and includes sturdy Tory Burch pumps, ruffly Loeffler Randall sandals, and vegan Olsen Haus shoes.

Also try: SimplySoles (the Shops at Georgetown Park; 202-232-0072; simplysoles.com) for Frye boots and Lillybee heels.

FOR THE BOYS

Men of polish head to Everard's Clothing (1802 Wisconsin Ave., NW; 202-298-7464; everardsclothing.com) for Hickey Freeman suits, Romano Martegani leather lace-ups, and shelf after shelf of collared shirts. Owner Louis Everard also offers made-to-measure services.

Ice-cold beers and a blond bombshell of an owner—who's also a whiz at personal styling—make men's shopping easy at Lost Boys (1033 31st St., NW; 202-333-0093; lostboysdc.com). Kelly Muccio has filled her boutique with urban-rugged options from Band of Outsiders, Steven Alan, Theory, and more. The hours outside 9 to 5 have suddenly gotten cooler-looking.

Also try: Hugo Boss (1517 Wisconsin Ave., NW; 202-625-2677; hugoboss.com) for slick black tuxes and suits.

FUN FOR KIDS

Everything you need for make-believe is available at Tugooh Toys (1319 Wisconsin Ave., NW; 202-338-9476). We especially like the miniature kitchens, kid-size tea sets, and handsome wooden baby tractors.

Outfit your little ones for their first big occasion at the Magic Wardrobe (1663 Wis-
